No single institution has made a deeper impression upon the life of the state than the University Law Department. During the half century of its existence nearly one thousand graduates have left its halls, whose lives and achievements in peace and war have blessed the state.

THE LAW DEPARTMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

FACULTY.

DAVID C. BARROW, LL.D., Chancellor of the University.
SYLVANUS MORRIS, A.M., B.L., Dean of the Law Department,
Professor of Law.
THOMAS F. GREEN, B.L., Professor of Law.
JOHN H. T. McPHERSON, A.B., Ph.D., Lecturer on Roman Law.
ANDREW J. COBB, A.B., B.L., Lecturer on Procedure and Constitutional Law.
JAMES C. BLOOMFIELD, M.D., Lecturer on Medical Jurisprudence.

The next session of this Department begins September 20th, 1911. The time requisite for graduation is two years. The fees are $75.00 per year, of which $40.00 are due at entrance and $35.00 at the opening of the spring term.

At the opening of the autumn term of the first year, Blackstone will be taken up, and lectures on the Constitution of the United States will begin.

On arrival here, report at the Chancellor's office, or to the Dean, in the Academic Building, on the University campus.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS.

General.—Students in this Department must not be less than eighteen years old, and must be of good moral character.

Junior Class.—The requirements for admission to the junior class include fourteen units. A unit is measured by five weekly periods of forty minutes each for one year in a college or high school subject. This requirement may be met by presentation of a diploma of graduation from a University or College authorized to confer it; by presentation of a certificate from a college or accredited school; by taking the entrance examinations prescribed by the committee on entrance.

Conditioned Students.—Those who can secure credit for ten units may be admitted with an entrance condition of four units. Conditions must be removed by passing off the necessary units as the result of private study, or by doing additional work offered in the University; but college work thus offered for admission will not be counted toward a degree. The student must remove entrance conditions before entering the senior class.

Examinations begin at nine o'clock A. M. each day.

Applicants are particularly urged to bear this in mind.

Transfers.—Students transferring from the Academic Departments must obtain the written permission of the Chancellor and certificates from the proper officer of the University showing that they have been satisfactory students in those departments.

Elective.—Students not applying for the degree may enter the Department upon complying with the general requirements and presenting the fourteen units.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The course in this Department is completed in two years, consisting of four terms. The exercises of the University, including this Department, begin on the third Wednesday in September in each year and end at the annual Commencement on the third Wednesday in June.

The autumn term commences with the college year and closes the day before Christmas.

The spring term commences the day following New Year and closes at Commencement.

Two courses of instruction are pursued, to-wit, the Study Course and the Lecture Course, arranged as follows:

Study Course.

The classes meet each of the professors of law daily (except Sunday), with a previously assigned part of the text-book then being read. The professor delivers lectures explanatory of the text, and questions the members of the class on the text and the lecture of the previous meeting.

First Year.

The autumn term is devoted to the study of Blackstone's Commentaries, Elementary Law, American Law, Constitution of the United States, Constitution of Georgia, Part First of the Code of Georgia, relating to the political organization of the State.

The spring term is devoted to the study of Contracts, Sales, Bailments, Torts, Criminal Law.

Second Year.

The autumn term work covers the subjects of Commercial Law, Agency, Partnership, Common Law Pleading.

The spring term covers the subjects of Real Estate, Conveyancing, Domestic Relations, Equity Principles and Pleading, Evidence, Corporations, Federal Procedure.

In addition to the daily recitation from the regular text-books, the students are required to consult other standard works on the various branches of the law.

Lecture Courses.

The class meets one of the several lecturers of the Department at the noon hour three times a week. The schedule is so arranged that the several courses of lectures do not conflict. The lecturers and their subjects are as follows:

Lectures were delivered during the session of 1910-1911, to each class by the Hon. Andrew J. Cobb, on Procedure and Constitutional Law. The reference works in this course were Hughes on Procedure, Wambaugh's Study of Cases, Stinson's Federal and State Constitutions.

Lectures on Medical Jurisprudence are delivered twice a week during the autumn term of the first year by Dr. J. C. Bloomfield. The text-book in this course is Ewell's Medical Jurisprudence.

A course of lectures on the Civil (Roman) Law is delivered by J. H. T. McPherson, Ph.D., Professor of History and Political Science, during the second year.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION.

Reading.—The best features of the lecture and the recitation are secured by the method of instruction pursued in this Department. Reading is daily assigned in the text-book, the professor comments on the same, and the student is required to recite thereon. By this means each part of the subject is explained to the student, is then read by him, and he is either questioned thereon, or hears others questioned.

From experience, as well as from observation, it is believed that the "lecture system" alone, as pursued in so many similar institutions, does not meet all the necessities of the case. However learned the lecturer and however attentive the student, the impression left upon the beginner's mind is not so permanent as that produced by his own study of the subject, reinforced by the oral recitations and by the explanations of the professors. Under the plan of instruction outlined, the student first studies with the incentive of desire to learn, and with knowledge that his fellow students will hear his oral examinations. Ample explanations and illustrations, together with incidental lectures arising out of the subject of the lesson, from the professors, aid the student's own labor. The consequence is that the student, from pride as well as ambition, learns each lesson, and his knowledge thus acquired is permanently fixed in his mind. The act of reciting fixes in the mind that which is recited. Moreover, the professor is, by this means, enabled to ascertain those points which are not understood by each student, and to adapt his explanations to the need of the entire class.

Lectures.—With this system of daily drilling in the recitation rooms, and with the proper study which it enforces, the student is given a sufficient knowledge of the subject to prepare his mind for the incalculable benefit to be derived from lectures. It is believed that a knowledge of the law cannot well be obtained under either system unaided by the other; the effort is thus made to derive all the benefits of both. All the good features of the "recitation system" are thus combined with the "lecture system," and the attempt made to reap the fruits of both the general plans of professional education.

Case Study.—The study of cases illustrative of the principles under discussion is being steadily developed. The facilities for this work are greatly increased by the additions to the library.

Pleading.—In addition this course offers exceptional advantages in the frequent exercises in the actual drafting of pleadings and other legal papers, thus practically impressing on the mind of the student the principles involved by putting them into actual use. It is not, of course, expected that accomplished lawyers will be turned out in a course so short as this necessarily is. Until the time appears proper for lengthening the term of professional study, the course must be adapted to existing circumstances. But there is no reason why a student of average ability should not acquire in the allotted time a knowledge of the general principles of law, and a sufficient knowledge of "how to study" to carry on alone his advancement in the leisure which usually befalls the young lawyer.

EXAMINATIONS.

There are two kinds of examinations—oral and written. Each professor daily examines orally on the prescribed reading. Written examinations are held at the conclusion of each text-book or branch of study. These examinations are made very searching, and the student is given abundant time to write out his answers without assistance, thus impressing upon his mind what he has learned and disclosing accurately and impartially his progress.

DEGREE.

Students who continue in actual attendance upon the exercises of this Department during the two years, of two terms each, to-wit: the autumn and spring terms, and those who are admitted to the second year of the course, and continue in actual attendance for one year, of two terms, to-wit: the autumn and spring terms, and complete successfully the required course of study, receive the degree of Bachelor of Law of the University of Georgia.

ADMISSION TO THE BAR.

Under the law of the State the graduates of this Department are admitted to the bar, without examination in court, on presentation of the diploma.

Under a rule of the United States Court for the Northern District of Georgia, graduates of this Department who have been admitted to the State Bar will be admitted to the District Court of the United States without examination.

HONORS.

Two members of the Law Department are allowed places among the senior speakers on Commencement Day, and one representative of the Department on University Day. The speakers from the Law Department are chosen by the Faculty of the Law Department for general excellence in all the exercises and branches of study in the Department. Those members of the senior class only are eligible to these places, who have attended the full two years' course in this Department.

MOOT COURTS AND LEGAL EXERCISES.

After the students are sufficiently advanced, moot courts are held in which one of the professors presides, the juries being taken from the students in other departments of the University. The law students are assigned to act as counsel in the cases on trial. In these courts the students are taught the actual practice of law, such as pleading, drawing orders, moving for new trials, advocacy before the court and jury, the use of reports and text-books as authority; in short, all the elements of actual court-house practice.

During the course exercises are given in pleading and drawing deeds, wills and mortgages, and all kinds of legal documents, including commercial paper.

SOCIETIES.

Literary.

There are two literary societies in connection with the University, viz: The Demosthenian and Phi Kappa Societies. The former was founded in 1801, the latter in 1820. The members of the societies meet in their respective halls every Wednesday. Debates on interesting subjects are held at each meeting. In these debates the student learns self-reliance, readiness of expression, rapidity of thought. To the lawyer, perhaps one of the most valuable accomplishments is the ability "to think on his feet," and these societies afford a good field for the acquirement of this habit.

JEFFERSONIAN LAW DEBATING SOCIETY.

The law students conduct a successful and beneficial society, which meets once a week, and they debate questions of law. All students of the Department are eligible to membership in the society. The society is one of the most useful features of the law course.

DISCIPLINE.

In matters of discipline, the students of the Law Department are governed by the same rules and regulations prescribed for other students of the University.

LIBRARY.

The University Library contains over 20,000 volumes of general, classical and scientific literature, to which yearly additions are made. A complete list of the current periodicals, both on general and technical subjects is taken. Special libraries containing all standard reference books, are in the rooms of the several departments. The library is in the hands of a competent officer, and is free of access to all students of the University, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. every day except Sunday. Books are taken out under the usual restrictions and the periodicals are spread on the library tables for use during library hours.

The Library of the Law Department is located on the second floor of the Academic Building, is in charge of a librarian, and is open for the use of law students on every working day of the session. Within the year, books costing $1000.00, have been added. The library now contains complete sets of the State Reports of Courts of last resort, of the Reports of the United States Supreme Court, of the American Reports, American Decisions, American State Reports, Lawyers' Reports Annotated, with complete digests, Statutes of the State and of the United States, and many valuable text-books, many of them the last editions. Several standard magazines and other law publications are in the library.

The University is indebted to the widow of the late Brantley A. Denmark for the handsome and valuable library of her husband and of her son, the late Thomas N. Denmark, both loyal sons of the institution. Valuable text books were recently donated to the University by Hon. Alex. C. King, of Atlanta. The Reports of the State Supreme Court and of the Court of Appeals, the Acts of the Legislature, Codes and other public books are furnished to the library by the State.

FOUNDATION AND GROWTH.

Nearly a half century ago three distinguished Georgians founded a law school which exists today as the Law Department of the University of Georgia. While methods of legal study and education have, in these fifty years, changed, nay undergone a revolution, the great underlying principles of the founders is today the inspiration of the teachers and the norm of the progress of this school. Joseph Henry Lumpkin, Georgia's first Chief Justice, held broad and catholic views of the principles of jurisprudence underlying and permeating all positive rules. Thomas R. Cobb, the codifier of our laws possessed a fund of general and accurate information upon our statutes, unequaled by any lawyer who has lived in the State; William Hope Hull, the cool, firm, judicial practitioner was a fitting complement of his two distinguished colleagues. No men were by temperament and training better fitted to impress on the student the due relation of principle and practice, the accurate adjustment of the laws to the law. Thus this school seeks to instill those unchangeable principles of the law which must animate all philosophically framed rules of conduct, and at the same time gives actual practice as far as possible, in the application of those rules. While it strives to attain a standard of excellence in the academic training of the lawyer, it keeps always in view the fact, that, to the lawyer, law is a business, the most intensely practical of all human pursuits.

The high standard of professional honor and courtesy set by the founders is the priceless heritage of the school today. Unceasing effort in all the work of the school, is made to impress the student with the solemn responsibility of the lawyer, and the sacredness of the trust imposed upon him. The ideals of the school are high and clean. To estimate what the school means to the State would be to make unfair and invidious distinctions among its alumni. To call the roll of those who have honored their alma mater would be to extend this articles unduly. There is scarcely a city or town in the State among whose leading attorneys are not found alumni. Today the school sees her graduates in Congress, in the Legislature, on the Supreme Bench, on the Bench of the Court of Appeals, on the Circuit and City Court Benches. Her sons are found among the Solicitors General and the Solicitors of the other courts. Many who have not entered the practice, or have retired therefrom are giving their testimony to the inestimable benefit derived to them from their course in law.

PROGRESS AND IMPROVEMENT.

For many years the school has been moving forward steadily, and as rapidly as the conditions in the State allow. More than ten years ago the Law Department became in reality an integral part of the University, and the transfer from the Academic to the Law School of any but worthy men ceased. The adoption of the two years' course soon followed. The wisdom, if not the necessity, of that action was never doubtful. The efficiency of the work was more than doubled. The approval of the State Bar Association has been repeatedly expressed. The election of another teacher, who gives his time to the work of the Department, has been an untold advantage. The requirement of fourteen academic units for entrance went into operation with the opening of the session of 1908, and has already borne good fruit in the better class of students admitted.

Among the many advantages offered by the school most worthy of not is the connection with the University. The advantages of this connection at once occur to the student. Access to the academic schools, the libraries, debating societies, participation in literary and other University activities, wider acquaintanceship with the young men of the State, University fellowship are invaluable to the lawyer.

That an institution cherishing such ideals and earnestly endeavoring to fulfill its obligations to State and people receives the recognition of Georgia is no surprise to its alumni, and is a source of gratification to all friends of thorough training for the practice of the profession.

THE PRESENT CONDITION.

Within the last few years the University has taken new life, has expanded all her departments, enlarged her usefulness and won the recognition and support of the State and people. The Law Department is in full accord with this movement, growing out of the past into the future, it is in the advance of the movement for higher standards of legal education, and looks with hopefulness to meeting the needs of the State and the profession as time shall develop them.

HISTORICAL NOTE.

At the regular meeting of the Trustees of the University of Georgia in 1859, the board determined to reorganize the University, and in the plan that was then adopted it was determined to establish a law school, "in which facilities for the best legal education would be afforded." In pursuance of the plan, on August 4, 1859, on motion of Governor Herschel V. Johnson, Joseph Henry Lumpkin (the first Chief Justice of Georgia), William Hope Hull and Thomas R. R. Cobb were elected professors, and the law school opened in the autumn of that year. On December 19, 1859, by an Act of the General Assembly of Georgia, the Lumpkin Law School was incorporated, and these three gentlemen were both the incorporators and the professors. From that time to the death of Judge Lumpkin in 1867 (Mr. Cobb having died in 1862), the Law Department of the University was conducted under the name of the Lumpkin Law School, and the graduates were awarded their diplomas by the Trustees at the regular Commencement. The exercises of the law school were suspended during the Civil War.

In August, 1867, Benjamin H. Hill and William L. Mitchell were elected by the Board of Trustees to the two vacancies in the Law Department, and from that time forward the Law School has been conducted under the name of the Law Department of the University.

From the time of Mr. Hill's election to the United States Senate in 1877, his connection with the school was nominal, and the classes were under the sole care of Dr. Mitchell until 1881, when Pope Barrow and George Dudley Thomas were elected professors of Law. Dr. Mitchell died in 1882, and Mr. Barrow resigned in 1883. In 1884 Andrew J. Cobb was elected, and from that time until 1890 Mr. Thomas and Mr. Cobb filled the chairs.

In 1890 Howell Cobb was elected. In 1893, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Andrew J. Cobb having resigned as regular professors, and become lecturers, Sylvanus Morris was elected.

The chair of lecturer on Medical Jurisprudence was filled by Dr. R. D. Moore until 1873, to 1879 by Dr. R. M. Smith, from 1880 to 1883 by Dr. John Gerdine, and in 1883 Dr. S. C. Benedict was elected.

In 1907, Dr. Benedict having resigned, T. F. Green was elected Lecturer on Medical Jurisprudence. In 1908, Mr. Green having resigned, Dr. James C. Bloomfield was elected Lecturer on Medical Jurisprudence.

From 1873 to the time of his death in January 1888, Chancellor P. H. Mell delivered lectures on Parliamentary Law to the class in connection with the senior class in other departments of the University. In 1894 John D. Mell was elected Lecturer on Parliamentary Law.

Dr. J. H. T. McPherson was elected lecturer on Roman Law in 1899.

In 1900 Sylvanus Morris was elected Dean.

In 1901 the Course of Study was extended from one to two years.

In 1906 Thomas F. Green was elected Lecturer on Federal Procedure.

In 1908 Hon. Andrew J. Cobb was elected Lecturer on Procedure and Constitutional Law.

In 1909, Hon. Howell Cobb having resigned as regular professor and having been made professor emeritus, Mr. Thomas F. Green was elected regular professor of law.

Hon. Howell Cobb died during the year 1909.

In 1909, John D. Mell resigned as lecturer on Parliamentary Law.

TUITION AND EXPENSES.

The tuition in the Law Department is $75.00 per annum, divided as follows: $40.00 for the autumn term, to January first; and $35.00 for the spring term, from January first to Commencement. Tuition is payable in advance at the beginning of each term.

No matriculation or library fee is required in this Department. The students in law are entitled to the privileges of all other departments of the University, at Athens, without extra charge.

The expenses of the course are as follows:

Tuition, per annum, $75.00, total.....	$150.00
Initiation fee, literary society.....	2.00
Board, per month.....	9.00 to 18.00
Washing, fuel and lights, per month.....	3.00
Stationery for the year.....	2.00
Text-books can be had for about	75.00

The incidental expenses of a student are just what he makes them, and the patrons of the University are urged to take into their own hands the control of a matter which no college regulations can reach.

Excellent table board on the coöperative plan can be had in the new Denmark Dining Hall from $9.00 to $9.50 per month; elsewhere at $10.00 per month and upwards. Rooms in the dormitory are rent free. In Candler Hall (the new Dormitory), the rooms contain bedstead, washstand, tables and chairs. The student furnishes all other articles, mattress, pillow, and his own fuel and lights. In the other dormitory the student furnishes his room. The rooms are now furnished, but the furniture belongs to the students. A new student can usually purchase at a very low price the furniture, or a half interest therein, from students who have graduated. On account of the large demand for these rooms, application should be made as far in advance as possible to the Chancellor.

If dormitory rooms cannot be obtained, or are not desired, the next cheapest plan is to rent a furnished room in some residence near the Dining Hall. Many such rooms are for rent, on the campus and elsewhere. The prices range from $5.00 per month ($2.50 for each occupant of a room), upwards, including rent of furniture and bedding, attendance and lights, but not usually including fuel.

If preferred, the student can obtain board and lodging in private houses, at prices ranging from $12.00 to $20.00 per month.

Law students are admitted to participate in the benefits of the "Brown Fund." For information thereon, address the Chancellor, Athens, Ga.
